GREEN TIP

Another way to soak up some carbon is to garden. Frosts should be behind us now, so how about sowing some salad leaves to go with the tomatoes and cucumbers you may be growing. Bagged salad uses a lot of single use plastic and often air miles so growing your own is much better in all sorts of ways. Lettuce of all sorts are available as seeds or plug plants, but you can extend your range with rocket and of course cress. Radishes are also very easy to grow. Plant in succession to keep you going all through the summer. Delicious straight from the soil!
